

TWO MARINES ARE KILLED IN AIR SHIP

Captain Hamilton and Assistant Killed in Crash At Gettysburg

COMRADES SEE FALL

Aviators Were to Take Part in Marine Maneuvers on the Historic Battlefields.

Gettysburg Battlefield, June 27.—Capt. George D. Hamilton, marine aviator and hero of Belleau woods, and Gunnery Sergeant George E. Martin were killed yesterday afternoon when their plane crashed on Cemetery Ridge, in full view of the marine brigade, singing along the roads at the end of its long hike to re-enact the Battle of Gettysburg.

They were coming up from Quantico, Va., in military formation with three other planes. They were air scouts for the marching marines, who had come 18 miles from Thurmont, Md., in advance guard formation, simulating the arrival of Confederate troops upon the great battlefield in 1863.

It was the end of the long trail up from Quantico, and the leader-necks were singing and cheering past the silent ranks of monuments that mark the victories and defeats of Gettysburg. The day had been cool for hiking and, compared to the other bivouacs, this was to be a rest camp.

But for the rest of the day there was no happiness among the marines. They worked like beavers, getting the camp into shape not only for themselves but for hundreds of distinguished visitors, including President Harding, who will be here from July 1 to 4 to see the two famous regiments of the great war fight again the decisive battle of the Civil War.

The height above sea level of the Gettysburg battlefield is believed to have been responsible for the tragedy. Brig.-Gen. Smedley D. Butler appointed a board of inquiry immediately to try to find out the real cause.

FROM THE ORACLE

The guns of the Congress frigate are taken out, and landed on the navy yard, for the defence of that island.

Previous to the sailing of the Congress up the Piscataqua a sailor on board hanged himself!

It is said Mr. Crawford will take warning from the fate of his predecessor, and not scamp at the back of Bony in his journey to Elba. In a few years with due economy Bony will be able to make indemnity for his spoils on America—his annuity according to Marshal Jourdan's proclamation, being six millions.

Bonaparte's private library was restored to him.

the battlefield and saw the big plane, not more than 200 feet up, slipping sideways. He had been looking for Hamilton in Washington, expecting to fly with him, but hadn't found him.

The Fifth Regiment was already in camp and at work. The Sixth Regiment was coming along the road toward Cemetery Ridge, whence Pickett launched his charge, more than 50 years ago. Everybody saw the plane fluttering earthward like a falling leaf. "Look at that acrobat," they cried.

But an aviator usually straightens out of a spin several hundred feet above the ground, and the big ship was still twisting and turning less than 200 feet up. Next moment she plunged nose-down behind a clump of trees, the motor roared sharply and then there was an explosion.

There were three cornfields and at least two broad hay fields between the marine camp and the clump of trees and half a dozen fences, but marines streaked it toward the thin wisp of smoke from every direction. More than half a mile away they came upon the wreckage. Hamilton and

Martin had fallen behind Lou Dufford's carnival, not more than 20 feet away from the merry-go-round, which with a lot of sideshows and circus apparatus, had pitched tents near the marine camp. The carnival grounds were full of people.

CARDINALS VICTORS

"Brown beats Black!" Sounds funny, nevertheless it's true. "Adonis" Brown was the choice of Manager Walter Disbrow to pitch against the strong Black Athletic Club, of Washington, for the Cardinals Sunday. "Adonis" was at his best and kept the visitors in check at all times during the nine innings of play. The Cardinals won by a 4 to 2 score. Catchers Stevens and Myers were on duty for the Cardinals in the wire cage and performed well. Both catchers kept the Blacks from stealing bases. It is also true that Pitcher Brown had his rivals hugging his sweetheart.

Although the Cardinals made three double plays during the afternoon, the Blacks held them to a 1 to 0 score until the seventh inning, when the home lads added a few wrinkles on their weary brows—making 4 scores in all. Sterling, Herron was the last speed boy to register a tally.

"Count" C. L. Rains, the star twirler of the Blacks, pitched a pretty game, and he received excellent support from his battery partner, L. Damouth on the receiving end. The entire team of the Blacks showed that they are up-to-date ball players and are on their mettle at all times to beat their opponents.

The following named players were used in the Cardinals line-up and aided in a general way by their all-around excellent ball playing to trim the Blacks, viz: Savage, first base; Disbrow and Smoot, second base; Lambert King, third base; Walters, right field; Sims, left field; Herron, left field; and Elbert (Wop) Anderson, shortstop. In addition to the above-named, Pitchers Vair, Dove, Mitchell, and Sullivan, were ready to mount the mound of fame and show their skill in twirling the sphere had Manager Disbrow ordered them to do so. These lads are brilliant in the rough and when thoroughly polished, they are sure to shine. If the fans root for them success is assured. It is the purpose of the Cardinals to use players who live in Alexandria or nearby.

Business Manager S. Bernard De Vaughan, (with the help of some well wishers of the Cardinals), has just completed the neat new grandstand and he will continue to make other general improvements for the convenience of the patrons of the Cardinals. There is nothing impossible, so the Cardinals are determined to make their new playing field the best of the sandlotters homes in Virginia.

The strong Westovers team of West Washington, will play the Cardinals on their new field, Sunday, July 2, at 3 p. m.

DEL RAY ADDS ANOTHER

The Del Ray A. C. defeated the fast Superba A. C., at Del Ray Sunday, by the score of 6 to 4. Abell and Watson did the mound work for Del Ray. The feature of the game was a long fly speared by Cheek's going deep into left field and getting it with one hand. Next Sunday Del Ray will play the Naval Hospital team at Del Ray.

Roanoke—Despite the fact that there is a coal miners' strike and a possibility of a railroad strike, business conditions in Roanoke are reported to be good by merchants and officials of the Norfolk and Western railway. Advance of the season toward mid-summer usually brings a slight decrease in business, but this year no noticeable slack in business is seen. Business on the Norfolk and Western and Virginian Railway has shown an increase this month over that of May. Indications that coal hauling will far surpass that of last month. The earnings of the Norfolk and Western Railway are expected to pass the $2,000,000 mark, it was learned.

Duluth was named in honor of the French explorer Daniel Greyson du Lhut (literally Daniel Greyson, the gentleman of the lute), who visited the present site of the city in 1679.
